7. His Excellency in Council does not consider it sufficient to declare that these Acts should be read mutatis mutandis, for in the case of Bangalore with its large population, European and Native, it is very desirable that there should be no unnecessary ambiguity about the law. I am accordingly to request you to submit the draft Notification required with as little delay as is compatible with the care and scrutiny with which each Act, and in some cases each section of an Act, should be examined before it is entered in the list.

8. I am also to explain that the reason of excepting from this Department Notification No. 126G.-P., dated 28th April, the rules which have from time to time been issued relating to Civil and Criminal Courts in Mysore is, that they do not appear to be applicable to the Courts which have been constituted for Bangalore. But should there be any exceptions, which you would desire to apply to the Bangalore Courts, you are at liberty to include them in the list contained in your draft Notification.

9. Finally, I am to observe that His Excellency in Council awaits the submission of your proposals as regards the jurisdiction in the railway lands of Mysore.

Sir,

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letters noted in the margin* regarding the Extension of certain Acts to the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore.

A Copy of Foreign Department Notification No 529 I, dated the 1st March 1883, published in the Gazette of India of the 3rd March is enclosed for your information. This Notification includes all the Acts (Except No XXVI of 1881) of which the Extension was ~~specifically~~ proposed in one or other of your letters cited above. It also includes two other Acts, No XXII of 1881 and No VIII of 1869 which you have not separately recommended recommended for Extension, but which were Enlered in the draft notification (accompanying your letter of the 24 June) detailing the Acts to be declared in force within the Station. As neither of the Acts in question has hitherto been Extended it is thought better to add them to the Number of those which have now been Extended for the first time.

3 Act No XXVI of 1881 (The Negotiable Instruments Act) has been omitted for the present because it seems desirable to preserve the Question of Extending it for more deliberate Consideration than it has been possible to afford it hitherto. It will however receive attention as early as possible.

4 As you will observe, the modifications made in Column 4 of the Notification follow for the most part those Suggested in your letters under acknowledgment, and therefore need no special notice here. They have generally been restricted to what seemed essential for adapting the law in question to the particular requirements of the Station.

5. A separate notification dealing with the Acts which have already from time to time been extended to Bangalore is under preparation, and will be published with the least possible delay.

I have the honor to be

Foreign Dept. Judicial. } Dated, Simla, the 7th August 1883.

Sir,

With reference to the correspondence ending with this office letter No. 705 I, dated the 17th March 1883, I am directed to forward, for your information, a copy of a Notification in the Gazette of India No. 2252 I, dated the 7th August, 1883, declaring the Acts in force in the Civil and Military station of Bangalore.

2. This Notification is based upon the draft which accompanied Mr Sandford's letter No. 678/147 J, dated the 24th June 1882. It formally re-extends to Bangalore all the Acts which were in force there before the transition of the Province to Native Rule, and which have since been kept alive by Notification. It does not include Acts subsequently extended, e.g. the Kazis Act, the Indian Companies Act &c. All these will be embodied in a general Notification which which is now under preparation; and which will include all the Acts in force at the present time in the civil and military Station of Bangalore.

3. The modifications noted in the fourth column of the Notification have been framed on the principle of restricting them to those which the altered status of Bangalore demands in order to make the Acts workable. They are self-explanatory, and need no special comment.

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your most obd.t servant,

C. Grant

Secretary to the Government of India.

Memo

In Foreign Department Notification No. 126 G.P. dated 28th April 1881, it was provided that all laws, regulations, and rules (with certain exceptions), in force in Mysore on the 25th March 1881 should be deemed to be in force in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore. But the Government of India, in that Department letter No. 123 I.G. dated 1st June 1881, explained that the said provision was merely temporary and only to afford time to submit a draft Notifn to on the model of that published for the Cantonment of Secunderabad, dealing substantially with all the law now in force in Bangalore, and adapting it to the altered conditions of the place.

2. A list of all the Acts now in force in the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore with modifications, made after careful perusal, to adapt them to the altered circumstances of the place is herewith submitted.

A statement is also submitted explaining the reasons for the various omissions, additions, alterations, made in the several Acts given in the list.

3. As the Schedule for Mysore contains Acts extended both to the Mysore Province and Bangalore, the same Acts are entered in the present list with this difference that the Coffee Stealing Prevention Act, which was extended to certain Taluqs of Mysore other than Bangalore, is omitted in the present list, and that the Arms Act, which was omitted in the Schedule for Mysore with the permission of the India Government, is included here. The other material difference in the two lists is that certain repealed enactments, which have been given in the Schedule for Mysore are replaced in the present list by Acts now in force in British India. This is done on the strength of the direction in the said Foreign letter No. 123 I.G. to the effect that the Acts in force in British India should be given in place of repealed ones which had been extended to Insane.

4. The principle on which alterations have been made in the Acts, to suit them to the condition of the Civil and Military Station, is that provisions in the Acts about places and things which do not at all affect the Station have been left untouched as unnecessarily mutilating the Acts.

5. To determine the rules in force in the station was a task of some difficulty, as there were no data to go by except by going through the series of Gazettes files page by page. They have however all been collected and the verbal alterations to suit them to the station now remain to be made. When this is done a list of the rules will also be submitted. The present list is submitted beforehand as it may have to be sent to the Chief Judge in Imphal.

Re Bengal Regulation

Sec 4 has already been omitted - the modification in Secs 3, 5 & 6, suggested, are covered by subsequent amendments when they will be considered. The substitution of the following proposed for the same Court requires, that the Resident's consideration as it is not so in the Nizam's district of Hyderabad and in Mysore - The Zillah or other local Court as before - said" in Sec 9 denotes the subordinate local Courts exercising Original Civil jurisdiction. The expression may, or must be substituted

4 & 6 Modification suggested by C.J. need not be adopted by us

The Act gives power to every magistrate having jurisdiction to entertain complaints against masters. The Act as introduced into Bengal does the same - The reason for making the Magistrate the sole magistrate to entertain such complaints is stated -

For para 1 Sec 6 read "An Inspector General of Prisons shall be appointed by the Governor General in Council."

As there is no prison in the limits of the Civil and Military Station of Bangalore. I see no object in extending this Act to that Station.

It does not seem from Sec 4 that the prison should be within the limits of the Station. The Second direct that "the L. Govt. shall provide for the prisoners in the territories under such Govt, accomodation in a prison &c". The words "in the territories" seem to have reference to prisoners and not to accomodation in a prison.

FROM

SIR A. C. LYALL, K.C.B.,

Secretary to the Government of India,
Foreign Department,

To

THE RESIDENT AT MYSORE.

SIMLA, 1st June 1881.

FOREIGN DEPT. Judicial.

SIR,

File 224/85

I AM directed to acknowledge receipt of your letter No. 8222-G. 143, dated 1st March, with which you forward a list of the Acts in force in the Mysore State.

2. Although this list was not attached to the instrument of transfer at the time of its execution, it is understood that the Maharaja has agreed to accept it in the shape finally approved by the Government of India.

3. Before according sanction to the schedule in question, His Excellency in Council desires that you will be good enough to submit it to careful examination, and to forward at an early date a revised copy, after consideration of the following observations:—

(a) As regards the inclusion in and omission from the list of the undermentioned Acts—

Act V of 1861 (Police).—This Act is understood to be only in force throughout the district of Bangalore. If so, should it not be excluded from the list of Acts for Mysore?

Act VI of 1864.—This Act has been partially repealed throughout British India by Acts X of 1872 and XVI of 1874. If it is intended that only the unrepealed part should be in force in Mysore, this should be stated. But on this point I am to remark that probably similar statements will be required in the case of other enactments, and consequently it may be convenient to frame an introductory paragraph providing that as much only of each enactment as was in force, at the date of the transfer, throughout British India, or was expressly extended by the Notification applying it, shall be deemed to be in force in Mysore. Similarly, it seems desirable to provide that any Acts which have been extended to Mysore, so far only as certain particular classes of persons are concerned, shall remain in force only to the extent to which they have been extended.

Act VII of 1865.—This Act was extended to Mysore on 19th July 1865, and, apparently, has not been withdrawn. I am to ask whether its omission is intentional; and, if so, under what law the Mysore Forest Rules of 1878 were passed. If under Act VII of 1868, that Act should be included in the list.

Act X of 1865 (Succession Act.)—It should appear on the face of the list that Native Christians are exempt therefrom; for the exemption (Notification No. 203J., dated 23rd July 1868) cannot be considered "a rule." But perhaps the words "and all rules passed thereunder" against this Act should be transferred to the next entry relating to the Companies Act.

Acts V of 1866 (Mercantile Law) and III of 1867 (Gambling) have been, apparently unintentionally, omitted.

Acts X of 1866 (The Companies Act) and X of 1870 (Land Acquisition Act).—The words "and all rules passed thereunder" should be added in each case.

Act X of 1871 (Excise).—As this Act is about to be repealed and replaced by an amended enactment now before the Legislative Council, it is questionable whether it should be included.

"Rules relating to Minors, 1872."—I am to enquire under what Act these were framed.

Under the year "1878" there is a misprint. The definition should be "notification for execution of decrees of, and civil processes issued by, Courts in British India."

Act XIV of 1880 (Census).—It is assumed that this Act is omitted because its purpose has been fulfilled, and that there are no prosecutions or proceedings pending under it.

Act I of 1863 (Madras).—This Act was repealed in Madras in 1867, having been superseded by the Criminal Procedure Code Amendment Act, VIII of 1866, the substance of which is and will remain in force in Mysore. It should be omitted.

Act I of 1873, Madras (Elephants).—I am to suggest the substitution of Act VI of 1879.

Act I of 1869 (Bengal).—I am to enquire whether the amending Act (Bengal) III of 1869 should not be included.

(b) Many of the Acts in the list contain terms such as "Governor General in Council," "Chief Commissioner of Mysore," &c., which are now inapplicable. I am to ask whether you propose to make corresponding modifications in the Acts or to apply them mutatis mutandis and leave the Maharaja, with the consent of His Excellency in Council, to make such modification as may hereafter appear necessary.

(c) Certain Acts in the list apply exclusively, or almost exclusively, to European British subjects, such as XIX of 1850 (Apprentices) and XXI of 1869 (European Vagrancy). It should be understood that the Maharaja's jurisdiction under such Acts will be limited by article 17 of the instrument of transfer.

4. I am next to invite your attention to the same subject as regards the civil and military station of Bangalore.

5. You will have observed that this Department Notification No. 126G.-P., dated 28th April, provided that all laws, regulations and rules in force on the 25th March (with certain exceptions which will be explained below) shall be deemed to be in force.

6. But I am to explain that this provision is merely temporary, and only to afford you time to submit a draft Notification, on the model of that published for the cantonment of Secunderabad, No. 213J. of 24th October 1873, published in the Gazette of India of 1st November 1873, dealing substantively with all the law now in force in Bangalore, and adapting it to the altered conditions of the place. For, I am to observe, most of the Acts now in force were extended to Bangalore in common with the rest of Mysore; and the modifications which were made in them to meet the case of the whole State are quite inapplicable when the Acts in question are restricted in their operation to Bangalore. For instance, there are repeated references in them to the "territories of Mysore"; "Deputy Commissioner"; "Commissioner"; "Chief Commissioner"; "Mysore Gazette," and similar offices and things which are no longer applicable.
